Saying Adios to Seville.

In the Alcázar gardens with my Spanish class..

Learning Sevillanas dance.

It's strange to be saying adiós to Seville. Now, this city feels like my home away from home. Not too long ago I was contemplating what this whole experience would be like, who I would meet, what I would see, and what I would experience? But this experience is far more than I could have hoped for or could have imagined.

I have enjoyed every moment of it! Even with the heat, which was luckily milder than it should have been. I just don't really know how to explain it all. This experience is something that has to be lived; no matter the amount of detail I could go into, it would never suffice for what each moment had to offer. I have grown so fond of Seville! Walking anywhere in this city is enjoyable. There is so much to see! The same street still manages to be different everyday. Different people, different activities, different dogs.

There are still aspects of this city I find breathtaking. I could spend an entire day staring at the Plaza de España and be content. No matter the amount of pictures I take or the words I look up; nothing will be able to describe or show the building for what it truly is. On the other hand, the people I have met during this program are super guay, or really cool! I have definitely made friendships that will last beyond my time here. Although, they will be in different States from me, I cannot wait to see what else I get to experience with them! I'm thinking a cross country road trip!

This experience has definitely altered me for the better. I feel like my Spanish has improved and I am far more willing to speak to people in it. I plan on practicing even more when I get back home! Oh, and I cannot wait to get home and show off my new clothes and give everyone their souvenirs. I am most excited to see my dogs again, but I will miss Parque Maria Luisa, la Plaza de España, the walk to class, and strolling through the city. I will especially miss hanging out with my friends in Seville! Hopefully I can come back and make even more memories here.

THE ALCÁZAR PALACE

The Alcázar was built by Castilian Christians on the site of a Muslim residential fortress. It is a preeminent example of Mudéjar architecture in the Iberian Peninsula and is universally renowned as one of the most beautiful. It is also the oldest royal palace still in use in Europe.

THE ANCIENT JEWISH QUARTERS

The Barrio Santa Cruz is in the oldest part of the city of Seville, being within the city walls built by the Romans in the 1st century BC. In these typically picturesque quarters are unique examples of Jewish, Islamic and Christian art and architecture.

THE CATHEDRAL

After its completion in the early 16th Century, the Seville Cathedral became the largest Gothic church in the world. Built on the site of the former Muslim Great Mosque, it houses most impressive works of sacred art and magnificent architectural elements.

MUSEUM OF POPULAR ARTS & CUSTOMS

Created in 1972, the museum is dedicated to the ethnological heritage of Andalusia, both material and human. The objects and utensils on display document the customs, wisdom and ways of life of the traditional culture in the area.

VISITING MOROCCO & CORDOBA
